Delinquency Management in the Digital Age

FLEXIBLE PRICING MODELS

Hefty upfront license fees are a significant barrier for lenders when it comes to adopting new technology or upgrading their outdated systems. With a vision to make cutting-edge technology available to all clients, Infini offers numerous structured pay-as-you-use models alongside its licensing model. We regard each project as a partnership where we are interested in our joint success and this includes finding the payment structure that works for your business.

Human-centered design for happier adoption

Veefin modules have been built basis hours of time spent with users, including bankers, suppliers, and distributors, understanding how they operate digital platforms. All our modules UI experiences have been intuitively designed basis this deep understanding. Also, we are always pushing the boundary in improving our UI to deliver unmatched UX.

All our products have been designed Mobile-first, as we have seen small businesses leapfrog to smartphones without ever owning a computer. We also offer accessibility to our users across platforms, be it smartphones, tablets, laptops, or desktops.

Super-fast implementations

Our products have been designed by global bankers for lenders. Therefore, the Veefin SCF platform is ready to deploy out-of-the-box as our modules already incorporate all standard and many industry-first features. Technology implementations usually have a way of running way beyond committed schedules unlike ours. With Veefin, you can be assured of going live with your SCF platform in a matter of weeks rather than months.

Structuring is in our DNA

Infini's roots are in the design of Custom software applications, which involves providing customized software solutions to our client's across varied industries as one-off solutions. This design expertise, which is not limited to just the banking industry is of great help to our Lenders who often require customized solutions for large Anchors to create new SCF linked business opportunities. It is during such times that you know that you have the best of both worlds - the state-of-the-art SCF platform and the best-in-class customizing project skills with deep knowledge cutting across diverse industries.

Advisory solutions from our Global SCF Specialists

Our clients can also opt for turn-key SCF programs with us, where we not only provide our market leading SCF platform but also offer advisory support from global SCF Banking Specialists, who have experience of establishing tens of SCF program across multiple countries. These services are on-call and available throughout the length of our engagement. These programs can be as big or small in scope as our clients' desire - from as comprehensive as setting up the entire SCF program from scratch to just a brainstorming workshop on specific product structures. Our collaborative knowledge-led approach towards developing unparalleled SCF solutions sets us apart in this industry.
